"MEMORANDUM TO THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE FOR FREE ALBANIA"

"Last month our people met with Mr. L's people in London for the purpose of discussing matters of mutual interest. One of the major items dealt with was the reorganization of the NCFA.

"This discussion was not held by your backers for the purpose of deciding the fate of any one individual, or group of individuals, within or without the committee. Our discussions, instead, consisted of an exchange of views aimed solely toward the accomplishment of these three major objectives;

1. The development of a more friendly attitude toward the committee (and its aims) by Albania's neighbors.
2. A re-shaping of the committee to simplify its structure and make more and better use of its organizational elements.
3. Development of a concrete program under which all worthy Albanians can participate in the committee's liberation effort.

"At this time Mr. L's people and my people are agreed upon certain basic points. For example, we are agreed that the Executive and the General committees should be merged into one; that there should be four operating sub-committees; that these sub-committees should have revolving chairmen (elected to office from the NCFA every six months). We are not, however, decided upon all of the details we should discuss with you. For that reason, we ask that any further discussions on this subject be held in abeyance until such time as Mr. L. and myself have had an opportunity to study and correlate the individual expression of our respective chiefs."
